NEW EMPLOYEE SPOTLIGHT: DREW ALDERMAN

by Claire Johnson, multimedia and branding communications coordinator

Welcome to the Village, Drew! Voyager Village is growing and changing every day and we're thrilled to have you along for the ride. Drew was hired last month as our Golf Manager following Ryan Christopherson's departure; Drew has always loved the sport of golf and especially enjoys teaching friends how to play and helping people improve their game. He grew up in Grantsburg, and in high school he played on the hockey team and was captain of the school's golf team. Drew later went to college at Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa, and graduated with a Business Management degree with an Insurance concentration, as his parents worked in that field. When Drew saw the position posted at Voyager Village, he thought it was a chance to pursue his passion for golf. Drew has always wanted to be a certified PGA professional; he is currently scheduling courses and working towards becoming certified, and said that in five years time, he wants to be a PGA professional and running our golf shop with ease.

Drew currently lives in Frederic with his girlfriend Carly and their two dogs. He enjoys being outdoors with them in his free time and loves walking trails. He would like to tour around Aruba one day, and is most looking forward to being the new face of the clubhouse and getting to know everyone and their game.

Please swing by and say hello when you get the chance!

KNOWING YOUR PROVISIONS AND MAINTAINING THEM

by Geoffrey George, Voyager Village Executive Chef

We all know that there can be times we don't feel like preparing a big meal for ourselves. Knowing what you have in your pantry cupboard, refrigerator, and freezer can be a big aid in eliminating the worry of "what do I fix for dinner?"

Simple items like broths, bouillon cubes or bases can be a foundation for many items; to name a few: soups, sauces, gravies and slurries—a thin liquid used to keep proteins moist. You'll need some eggs, butter and milk as well, and make sure you have some all-purpose flour handy as well as a thickener. Frozen veggies are my go-to if I don't have fresh. Some meats aren't bad to have in the freezer, but remember to use them before around six months in the freezer or the meat will no longer have a grain left in it. Meats tend to freezer burn even if they're cryo-packed without air.

Lets look at some quick fixes for a hunger cure.

There is the go-to egg sandwich. But how about boiling a couple eggs earlier? Chill them, now this gives you the option of having them as hard boiled eggs or to chop them and add a bit of mayo, sweet relish, salt and pepper and enjoying egg salad. How about breakfast at dinner; a little French toast maybe? You have the bases already with egg, some milk, now add a touch of pancake mix—that's right, I said pancake mix—not too much as to thicken the batter too much. A touch of cinnamon and you have an original for yourself.

Got ground beef? Try out some handmade burgers. Take your raw burger and add in some spices. Experiment with what you know you like and go from there. Maybe some dried onion, rosemary, shredded cheeses, diced half cooked bacon, A1? I don't suggest putting BBQ in the burger itself; this contains a lot of sugar and cause a lot of flaring on the grill or burning in the pan while cooking.

You could also cut chicken or boneless pork into sandwich size portions, lay them out on a cutting board, cover them with plastic wrap, and flatten them for easy prep fried sandwiches. To make your breadding, you will take 1 cup of flour in a shallow pan larger than the cut pieces, add salt and pepper for taste and mix. Then take 2 whole eggs whisk while adding cold water to make a thin egg liquid/wash. Finally, use a 1:1 ratio of bread crumbs and flour (plain or seasoned, all your preference). Season with salt and pepper.

Now take your flattened piece of protein and place in the flour mix, coating both sides. Then move to the egg wash, lightly shaking off any excess flour before dunking. Be sure to coat both sides here as well. Next, go to your bread crumb/flour mixture, coating well and gently shaking off the excess. Set aside and finish your other pieces.

The cooking of these is entirely up the you! You can pan fry with very little oil. You can 'dry' pan fry, which is just using the juices from the meat, possibly a food spray. Or you can even bake/broil them. Just always make sure that your meats are cooked to a minimum of 165 degrees internally. If you can't check it with a thermometer, cut it open and check visually, I don't like this method except as a last resort; I don't pierce my meats in order to encase the natural flavors.

ASK THE BOARD PRESIDENT

This month, Voyager Village Board President Dave Heiss answers three questions submitted by Voyager Village members.

I would like to know when it was decided to partner with this new realty company, and why it was announced on Facebook after the fact and why it was not discussed with membership!

Several months ago, Voyager Village Realty's broker and salesperson parted ways with us.

The board spent considerable time and effort evaluating how to move forward selling vacant lots at Voyager. We looked at continuing with a Voyager Realty Broker or contracting with a larger realty company and using their brokers. The Board and Voyager Management assessed these options and made the decision to partner with another realty company. Several realty companies were met with and ultimately, we selected Keller.

During this process we updated the status in the open sessions of Monthly Board Meetings. To protect the confidentially, as requested by the realty companies, we did not name who we were considering in the open sessions.

At the last Quarterly Board Meeting (the day we executed the agreement), a representative from Keller gave a presentation to the membership (in person and on zoom) about their company and the efforts they will be implementing to maximize the number of lots sold and increase the awareness of Voyager Village.

It was important to get this relationship in place early in the year to be able to start selling lots. Lot sales are a very important part of Voyager's bottom line. Without these sales Voyager's operating budget shows a loss.

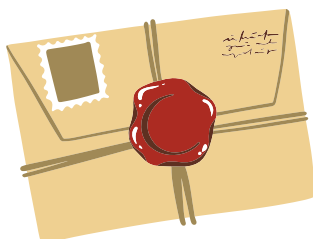

What is going on with the boat slips? I've went into the office and nobody can tell me where I am on the list. Who do I talk to in order to get this information?

I apologize for the confusion you experienced in the P.O.A. office when asking about the Dock's wait list. It should have been explained to you that the list was currently in an update mode. The list is available from Nancy Brandt Tuesday-Saturday between the hours of 8am-4pm.

When do we need to pick up our 2022 parking slips? I haven't received mine yet in the mail and would like to make sure I didn't miss it.

Parking slips (for Voyager Village beaches) will arrive to us in April. At that time an email will go out to the members with the date they can be picked up in the P.O.A. office.

Got a question? Forms for submitting questions and comments for consideration in this column can be found on our website at <https://www.voyagervillage.com/member-resources/> or at the POA Office.

OUT AND ABOUT

by Steve Johnson, Director of Grounds, Golf Course Superintendent

Spring can be an exciting but busy time for all of us, including the maintenance staff at Voyager. Spring usually includes removing tarps off some of the golf course greens, staging carts back at the clubhouse, cleaning up the mess left from winter winds, repairing and installing docks, and bringing online the seven facilities that we winterize and shut down. Along with these normal tasks, we are also looking to move into place two campers that we purchased last fall for employee housing, finish some last minute work to the snack shack so it's ready to open in mid May, improve lighting around the outside of the clubhouse, work with contractors to start the installation process of a new security gate at Little Bear that we plan to bring online sometime by early summer, and order parts to build a small dock that we plan to install at Shoal Lake.

Last year was the first time that Voyager Village rented out all its dock spaces and started a new committee to help enhance and protect our lakes in the Village. During the review process of trying to get more docks for the Village, we have realized that we have a few small opportunities to enhance boat slips through a prior agreement.

What this means is we will be adding two slips to the end of the rightmost dock at Little Bear, adding two slips to the end of the dock at Hanscom Lake and six spaces at Shoal Lake. These ten spaces will be a nice addition, however we plan to continue our work on the approval process to gain even more spaces in the future. We also plan to install a small pier at Cadotte Lake to help aid in the loading and unloading of boats that use that lake.

Please remember that boats can start being placed on our docks for the season beginning April 30th, and that Beach Houses will also open on that same day.

Finally, I want to say thank you to Claire Johnson for being the behind the scenes person that has worked so hard to maintain and improve our website and communications at Voyager Village over the past 4.5 years. She first started working for us part time helping Voyager with a variety of communication tasks including editing countless blog posts and articles that the staff put together. Claire always has a smile on her face and if you were lucky enough to get to know her, you would quickly appreciate her witty sense of humor. Claire is leaving us to take a position with Polk County as the Communications and Public Information Specialist. We will greatly miss you Claire and we wish you the best in your future endeavors.
